SP3H at the Africa Energy Forum

In relation to its diversification strategy, SP3H involves itself into new markets which express a need of fuel traceability and quality.

Petrochemical industry, fluids traceability and heavy engines diagnostics are part of the new markets application. With its fuel expertise, SP3H is able to offer new solutions such as process optimization.

That is why the company participated in the SEMICA last May. It was the opportunity for SP3H to show its breakthrough solution towards a new market. SP3H keeps going on and will take part in the Africa Energy Forum in London, from June 22nd to 24th.

This event will gather the major players from the Africa energy market. It is the opportunity for meeting the main actors in this market.
